Tapan Raychaudhuri : Europe Reconsidered: Perceptions of the West in Nineteenth Century Bengal (Oxford India Paperbacks) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Europe Reconsidered: Perceptions of the West in Nineteenth Century Bengal (Oxford India Paperbacks):

The book charts 19th-century Bengal's changing perceptions of and attitudes toward the West as embodied in the lives and ideas of three leading figures--Buhdev Mukhopadhyay, Bankimchandra Chattopadhyay, and Swami Vivekananda--providing important insights into an important period in Indian intellectual history.

"A most satisfactory and enlightening discussion."--The International History "A rich and facinating book...The book is useful for its presentation of the Bengali-language writings of each man on the larger issues of world history and for its three vivid biographical sketches, each of which includes an analysis of the subject's family dynamics, education, economic situation, and temperament."--American Historical "Brilliant and creative....Passionate and adept at handling ideas....Raychaudhuri's findings deserve wider recognition than his mongraph presently enjoys."--Journal of World History
